Dear Parents and Carers,

How are you on this sunny Thursday?

I hope everyone is ok and keeping to the advice given. If you are struggling then please do ask for help. You can email me headteacher@thehillsacademy.co.uk

Home learning

You will see that there is a new 'Computing' section in 'Our Learning'. You might like to try learning to code alongside your child and don't forget there is the computing support email that Mrs Williams is running.

Mrs Frost has been working hard on an online music program which children can access from home – she's done the training and is now sorting out user names and passwords for every child. This should be coming out to you next week.

All the teachers have worked hard on the planning this week and the new planning for next week will be on the website at the beginning of the week. Don't forget you have class emails if you need help or advice.

I'll write to the children tomorrow, instead of our usual assembly, with something linked to our values and the UN Global Goals.

8pm clap and rainbows on the windows

You probably already know that there is a plan afoot for everyone to open their windows and clap the NHS at 8pm tonight and many people are making rainbows to stick on their windows too – something that might be fun for you and your children.

Stay safe and give your children a hug from me – I do miss them all!

Best wishes

Moya
